

ALBUQUERQUE'S OWN ENERGY CONTROL INC. NAMED "BEST OVERALL COMPANY" IN THE U.S.

Jack McGowan, CEO of Energy Control Inc., New Mexico's oldest and most successful energy technology company, accepted a "Stevie Award" for the Best Overall Company in the US with under 100 employees. Energy Control recently celebrated its 32nd anniversary in New Mexico and experienced tremendous growth in revenues and employees since its inception in 1976. Today, ECI has 65 employees and annual revenues of approximately $14 million

The Stevie Award, click here to view, sponsored by the 2008 American Business Awards, recognizes companies each year for excellence in business practices. The awards were presented in New York on June 12 and presided over by Cheryl Casone, news anchor with the Fox Business Network, and Michael Gallagher, President of the American Business or Stevie Awards. The Global Sponsor for the 2008 presentations was Dow Jones, the publisher of the Wall Street Journal.

From left: The Vice President of Dow Jones with Jack McGowan, President / CEO of Energy Control Inc.

ECI was named "Best Overall Company" because it has gained recognition nationally for its' business model as a green energy technology company and because of its numerous award winning renewable energy and energy efficiency projects throughout New Mexico. ECI is a national leader in the Smart Energy and Smart Grid movement. Jack McGowan, CEO of Energy Control Inc., believes that over the next few decades our country will see a transformation in the energy sector, and perhaps nowhere more so than with electricity. This will create a multi-billion dollar business opportunity that is based upon do the right thing for business and the planet. McGowan Chairs the US Department of Energy GridWise Architecture Council and he believes that the most pressing need that we face is the need to become more efficient in the way that we use energy overall.

Jack McGowan, CEO / President
Energy Control Inc.

From McGowan's vantage point, even with a sagging economy, there is nothing but opportunity in this sector. Energy Control Inc. is also a 2008 recipient of the Flying 40 Fastest Growing Technology Companies in New Mexico. ECI has received this award for the 6th straight year.

For more information about Jack McGowan and Energy Control Inc, please visit our website at www.energyctrl.com.